

Hangin' out and bein' casual are Nate Iven, Mike Kotmel, Fernando Maranon, Robbie Palmer, and Jody Strong. The heater by the lockers was a popular after school hang out.

In our free time, we were known for our. . .

Outrageous

Acts!!!

A student's life is more than just 8:00 to 3:00. (Who was it that said that?) Yes, when that final bell rang, we were off to a variety of activities that we called fun.

In the fall, a new breed of Odessaneans arose from the front steps of the building. They were the skate rats. Virtually every night, dedicated rats such as Josh Melendez and Kris Otis negotiated the bumps and curves of the parking lot, showing off their talents for all to see.

A favorite leisure activity among many Senior boys was playing 'Splat'. A bunch of them would suit-up in their best camouflage, go into the woods and play war. Instead of live ammo, they shot each other with paint pellets. Lee Titus said that he played to 'unleash primitive instincts.'

There was a craze that swept the nation in the winter. It even caught up the kids in our little town. It was Nintendo. Many of us spent our spare time in front of our TV sets playing such games as Zelda and Blades of Steel.

Of course, to name all of the things that we enjoyed doing would be impossible. Whether we were hitting the lake, shooshing down the slopes, or heading for the movies, we treasured our free time and took advantage of it. We were never known as dull.
