

Gimme an 'O'!!!

During Basketball season, the first bleacher on the far right side of the Cheesebox was a little more quiet than we were used to. When the Varsity boys were on the court, there were just the spectators to cheer them on.

Early in the season, the Varsity Cheerleading squad was forced to dissolve due to injuries and academic reasons. It was up to the JV squad to carry on the job of keeping up the spirit of the Basketball spectators. The Senior Cheerleaders agreed that it was a little painful for them to break up, as cheer-leading had been a big part of many of their high school careers.

The JV squad did its very best to maintain the spirit that the Cheerleaders had been responsible for. They cheered during the JV game, shouting out the traditional year call and rousing the crowd with lively cheers.

Even though we greatly missed our Varsity Cheerleaders, we were thankful for our JV squad and all of its fine work on the sidelines.
